DZ-C100

This camera for cervix observation and photography was designed to meet the requests of front-line clinical practitioners. Casio's unique camera and image processing technologies have been integrated into this single unit to provide useful functions for cervical observation. Optimal miniaturisation for front-line clinical practitioners has been achieved by combining the lighting and photography functions into one device.

Operability is enhanced by using together with a camera stand designed to be compact and convenient to use. This easy-to-operate observation tool provides steady support for medical professionals.

Visit us on booth R2.
